

Name:

Arid No.:

Class:

Section:

Date: 15-11-2023

Assignment No. 5

Question:

Imagine you are designing a data processing system for a weather forecasting application. The system needs to analyze large datasets of weather information, including temperature, humidity, and wind speed, to generate accurate and timely forecasts. The application must handle data from various sources. Which architectural style you will choose for designing it also give reasons for choosing it.

Answer: